— ABOUT THIS COURSE

Why This Course

Why This Course

The Postgraduate Diploma in Strategic Leadership and Management is a CMI-accredited Level 7 qualification built for working professionals who lead organisations or aspire to do so.

Delivered entirely online and fully self-paced, this programme lets you advance your career without stepping away from it.

You will study the disciplines that define modern strategic leadership: corporate finance, governance, marketing, operations, project management, entrepreneurship, and strategic planning. Optional modules in human resource management and personal leadership development allow you to build specialist depth where it matters most to you.

On completion, you will hold a globally recognised 120-credit postgraduate qualification and become eligible for Chartered Manager status through CMI. You may then progress to the dissertation stage of an MBA or master's degree at one of LIBT's UK partner universities, completing a full master's without repeating what you already know.

Your Learning Journey

1 Key learning outcomes

This qualification does more than add letters after your name. It builds the strategic intelligence that organisations need at their most senior levels.

You will graduate with a CMI-accredited Level 7 qualification worth 120 postgraduate credits and the eligibility to apply for Chartered Manager status, one of the most respected professional designations in management. You will be equipped to lead strategic initiatives, manage complex functions, and make evidence-based decisions with confidence.

Internationally recognised and practically grounded, the qualification opens doors across industries and borders. Combined with a direct pathway to an MBA or master's degree at a UK partner university, this diploma positions you to advance faster, lead better, and compete on a global stage.

2 Learn at your own pace

Everything is designed around your life as a working professional. The programme is delivered entirely online through LIBT's feature-rich learning platform, giving you 24-hour access to recorded lectures, textbooks, multimedia content, and structured learning materials whenever and wherever suits you.

Each module carries approximately 60 guided learning hours, supported by an additional 30 to 50 hours of optional materials including recommended readings, self-testing exercises, and curated online resources. You can move as quickly or as steadily as your schedule allows.

On-demand tutoring is available at no extra cost, with tutors accessible via email, phone, or video call. You are never studying alone. You are studying on your own terms.

3 Assignments based on real situations

Each module is assessed through a single written assignment, meaning eight assignments in total across the full programme. There are no traditional examinations.

As a CMI-accredited programme, assessment briefs follow CMI's standards. Assignments are designed to be work-related wherever possible, encouraging you to draw on your professional context, apply relevant management theory to real organisational challenges, and demonstrate analytical rigour appropriate to Level 7 study.

You will be expected to engage critically with academic literature, support your arguments with evidence, and where relevant, make informed recommendations. Working professionals are actively encouraged to apply their assignments directly to their own organisation, turning every submission into a practical management exercise.

4 Credit for your learning and experience

If you have already studied at postgraduate level or have substantial relevant professional experience, you may not need to complete every module from scratch. LIBT's Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) process allows you to demonstrate existing knowledge, skills, or competencies against the assessment requirements of specific modules.

Where your prior learning is verified as valid and sufficient, you may be awarded credit for one or more modules, reducing your remaining study time and helping you qualify sooner.

RPL is assessed on an individual basis. Evidence must be credible, current, and directly relevant to the module in question. To find out whether your background qualifies, speak with our admissions team or visit our dedicated RPL guidance page before you apply.
